TO-DAY'S DOINGS IN THIS TOWN

Personal Notes and Brief Mention of Many Things.

THE WEATHER—For Ohio—Tuesday, rain or snow. colder. Cold wave.

Mr. John Kohl is in Canton to-day.

Frank Vogt went to Canton this morning.

Mr. J. R. Oppenheimer is in Cleveland.

Deputy Sheriff John T. Mack was in the city to day.

There will be revival services this evening at the U. B. church.

A surprise party waited upon Mrs. Lee Cecil of Richville avenue last night.

D. J. Ramage, representing the Star and Theatre Company, is at the Hotel Conrad.

Miss Hattie P. McLain will give a progressive euchre party Friday evening, at 8 o'clock.

Announcement is made to day of the candidacy of L. A. Koons for the office of city treasurer.

Charles A. Conrad is once more able to give some attention to business after his long illness.

Frank Clementz will leave Friday for Richmond, Ind., where he will again work at the machinist's trade.

The want advertisements overcrowd one full column to-day. There is room for everybody in that department.

The body of Mike Clemens did not arrive from Toledo last night, as the relatives expected, but will come on the 6:40 train this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Veider, of Massillon, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ludt, of Lincoln avenue.—Youngstown Telegram.

Mr. George Henrich, of Canton, brother of Mr. Jacob Henrich, of this city, and well known to many citizens, died yesterday, aged 80 years. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Messrs. Z. T. Baltzly and E. B. Bayliss have been suggested as suitable persons for countil on the Republican ticket in the third ward, and it is understood that either gentleman will accept if the nomination is tendered.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Schworm, of 19 Chestnut street, unexpectedly celebrated their wooden wedding last night. Forty friends properly laden with all manner of presents and good things dropped in upon them, and the party remained until early morning.

David W. Miller will commence this week to "break ground" for a two story brick building, 22x55 feet on the corner of the alley directly opposite the Ft. Wayne station. It will be a pressed brick and plate glass front, and Mr. Miller will occupy it with restaurant and saloon.

"Our trade is always light at this season," said a Main street meat market man, this morning. "I suppose it has fallen off 25 per cent. since last Wednesday when Lent began. But it is not all together that which cuts off our trade, for just now all the country people are doing their butchering and that takes a great deal of business temporarily out of its regular channels."

Friends in this city received a telegram this morning, announcing the death of William Laughlin, of Toledo. Mr. Laughlin was over 80 years of age, and one of Massillon's pioneer citizens. He was a saddler by trade and did a large business in those days. The end must have come very suddenly, for he was alive and well, last week, and attended the wedding of his grand-daughter.

Martin Nye, the man whose back was broken a few months ago at Russell & Co.'s, is now at Canal Fulton, and is actually able to walk about, with the aid of crutches. It will be remembered that he hovered between life and death for some time after the accident, and that there was a popular supposition that he would never recover. Popular opinion has proved wrong again, however, as the fact related shows.

Miss Ada Campbell, of Melbourne, Australia, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hunt, at Mt. Airy, and will lecture in Music Hall, Thursday evening, on "Heredity." Miss Campbell proposes to show that the sins of the fathers and mothers descend to the children of the thirtieth and fortieth generations. She has encircled the globe already two and a half times, and is a most entertaining speaker.

At the U. D. club last evening Mrs. C. McC. Everhard gave quite a full account of "The condition of the ancient world about 200 B. C." to which scant justice can be given within brief space. Rome had about entered on her tide of extended conquests; Asia had but lately been overrun and exhausted by Alexander's armies; Greece degenerate and divided by wars; Spain had been overrun by Hannibal; Carthage humiliated; Egypt demoralized, and already in the grip of the Roman senate, so that her conquests were more a result of the weakness of these various peoples than of her own strength. But Rome knew how to retain and govern conquered provinces, which was by delegating governing powers to native princes, and thus assimilation at once began. At this time Rome had just entered upon her period of literature, previous to which she had none. Among the more intelligent, faith in the Oracles was losing its hold, though religious forms and ceremonies were adhered to, in order to the better hold the lower orders in awe and subjection. At the same time in all these various countries, governments and people were in a state of confusion and disorder.

AT THE COUNTY SEAT.

Snatches of News from City and the Court House.

CANTON, Feb. 17.—Criminal court opened yesterday with Judge Pease on the bench. Mike Quigley, charged with pocket picking, is the first prisoner to have a hearing.

Considerable dissatisfaction is expressed over the action of the Pennsylvania Company in ordering the telephone out of the passenger depot in this city. It is understood that the economical innovation will not be carried out in the freight department. Local shippers will continue to be allowed to telephone about shipments.

John McGregor is slowly recovering from congestion of the lungs and brain. He has been confined to his residence in North Walnut street a week. The illness took such a serious turn Friday that the worst was feared, but hopes are now entertained for his speedy recovery.

A little child of Lawrence Conrad died Saturday morning from the effects of an accident on last Tuesday. The child fell from a chair, striking his head against the stove. The funeral was held at Morges to-day, funeral services being conducted by the Rev Father Walter Rose, of that place. The remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery at Morges.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Lyman W Edwards and Luemma Young, Canton; Myron L. Holl and Susie Metzgar, New Berlin; E. L Burkett and Lydia Stype, Greentown; Alvin White and Elma Cashner, Cairo.

Ed. Klotz, the escaped prisoner, captured at Massillon Saturday morning, was arraigned for forgery yesterday. He waived examination and was bound over to common pleas court in $500 bond.

William Volkmann, the cigar manufacturer, offered $8,000 cash for seventeen feet front in South Market street, south of the Canton Hardware Company property, and owned by the Oberly heirs. The property has a one story brick building on it. The offer was refused.

THAT STREET CAR MAN.

MR. EBERLY AGAIN HERE AND HE MEANS BUSINESS.

He Proposes to Ask the City Council for a Local Franchise, and if Granted Expects to Have Cars Running in Two Months' Time.

B. C. Eberly, of Ohio City, a banker and a street railroad builder, quietly stepped into Massillon about two weeks ago, and as quietly stepped out. Few would have been the wiser had not THE INDEPENDENT discovered the gentleman, and as a result he and his plans were given pretty full discussion at the last board of trade meeting.

Mr. Eberly is in town again to-day.

"My dear sir," said the busy business man, as he grasped the reporter by the hand, "don't you know that we must never go shooting for ducks with brass bands? You can say all there is to be said about me and my intentions in four lines. Yes, sir. I am the street car man. I have determined to build a first class system here if I can get a franchise. I am here for that purpose. If you people really wish street cars, and your council will give me a franchise on a fair basis, without a lot of riders, which would preclude all possibility of success, I am with you, and the line will be built and put in operation within two or three months. The matter rests with the people of your town. Will I work through the board of trade? Yes I am now waiting to meet Mr. Everhard, chairman of the committee on electrical railroads."

Chairman H. H. Everhard and Mr Eberly spent the morning riding about town, discussing the most feasible routes, and other questions that arose.

A special meeting of the executive committee of the board of trade will be held in the mayor's court room Wednesday evening, Feb. 18, at 7:30.

E. A. JONES, Sec.

MONEY ABOVE PAR.

Some of the Treasures in H. C. Brown's Collection.

"Cove oysters dated May 21, 1865, is very good for oysters, but when it comes to age, what is the matter with this?" and Mr. H. C. Brown placed in the palm of the reporter's hand a bronze coin, of the reign of Servius Tullius, one of the first Roman kings, who lived and moved and had his being over 500 years before Christ. Mr. Brown bought this numismatic treasure for ten cents. It is worth many dollars.

His collection of coins, certainly the finest in Stark county, includes many precious specimens. There is an English groat, date 1107, dug up by the father of Joseph Coleman, in his own British soil, and found in a little pot with other money. There is a shilling coined in the reign of Henry VI, rare American dollars, and other bits of money dear to the collector's heart. In paper notes Mr. Brown has almost everything, from the fractional currency of war times down to North Carolina money of 1780, which, by the way, the federal government repudiated.

He Gave Up the Sparkler.

A letter was received Sunday, by Marshal Wendling, from Daniel Morgenstern, superintendent of police at Buffalo, N. Y., instructing him that upon the arrival of the Uncle Hiram company he should see William Sweatland, who plays the double bass, and demand of him a diamond ring, valued at $150, which belonged to Miss Alice Landers, of that city. The gentleman was called upon by the marshal when the company arrived last night and escaped arrest by showing an express comany's receipt that he had sent the ring to its owner two days ago.

HIGH WATER'S WORK.

THE WEST SIDE RAILROADS SERIOUSLY EMBARRASSED.

Trains on the C. L. & W. and W. & L. E. Railroads Temporarily Abandoned—The Financial Loss Will be Considerable—The Tuscarawas Rising.

Up to noon to-day this city has escaped any serious damage from the steadily falling rain of the past few days and the naturally resulting swollen streams, although the ever faithful blue Tuscarawas, which is never a laggard on occasions of this kind, left its quiet bed early yesterday and to-day has submerged nearly all that part of the city lying north of Main street and between the canal and Ft. Wayne track. The small settlement east of the rolling mill, generally known as "Patagonia," is surrounded by the intrusive element, the water having risen about ten inches within an hour this morning, as a result of the heavy rainfall last night.

South of Massillon, however, the havoc wrought to railroad operations has been frightful in the extreme and the damage excessively great, although at this time it is impossible to even estimate the damage done. Reports by wire last night were brief and unsatisfactory, containing simply a statement to the effect that serious disaster had befallen the W. & L. E. on the extension, east of Bowerston. A number of washouts had occurred near Jewett, Ace's Cut was reported to be again filled by landslides, and that trains could not get within three miles of each other.

On the C., L. & W., south of Uhrichsville, a washout was reported, and passenger train No 4, due here at 3:12 p. m., was discontinued. More definite information is at hand to-day, and the situation is appalling: All trains east of Bowerstown, on the W. & L. E. road, have been abandoned and cannot possibly be run regularly again for three or for days. The waters rose fourteen inches during last night, and the damage to the track has been so great and general on the extension as the result of washouts and landslides that trains this morning could not get within twenty-five miles of each other. The damage will be great but cannot yet be approximated. Trains run from the north, as usual, to Bowerstown.

Additional particulars to-day, from the trouble on the C., L. & W., are to the effect that the track is covered with water for about a mile, near Butler, twenty miles south of Uhrichsville. No trains north have passed that point since Monday morning, but travel is continued by means of transfer, and the track will be considered unsafe for several days. The telegraph wires are down.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the booming Tuscarawas had risen about twelve inches from the height attained this morning, but no material damage is yet apparent, and the indications are that the water will steadily recede from this time

There is nothing new in the situation on either of the railroads south at the hour named in the foregoing paragraph. A wild-eyed rumor that a postal clerk had been drowned on the C., L. & W. south, was found to be baseless upon inquiry at the depot.

He Paid the Freight.

A score or more people at the Ft Wayne station this morning witnessed the thorough discomfiture and complete annihilation of the "property man" of the "Uncle Hiram" company by Harry Markl, the baggage master. The trunks belonging to the party, about thirty, had been weighed, were loaded on two trucks ready to be transferred to the 7:45 train east, and Mr. Property Man was notified that the excess amounted to $3.50. He grumbled, and growled and kicked, just like all those $6 a week men do, and declared he was being robbed and wouldn't pay it. The baggage master told the conductor to pull out, and the signal was given the engineer to start, when "Uncle Hiram" rushed to the rescue—as he does in the play—paid the charges, the train was held until the baggage was put on, and the spectators joined in a hearty laugh at the expense of Mr. Smart Aleck Property Man.

It is now a Law.

Senator Howells wires THE INDEPENDENT as follows from Columbus:

"The street improvement bill has passed the House and is now a law."

To become operative the law will require an affirmative vote of three-fifths of all votes cast at the spring election. It is not likely to receive serious opposition.

A second telegram was received at noon to day: "City hall and general improvement bills just passed the senate.

A. HOWELLS."

A Mine Explosion.

Greatly exaggerated stories about an explosion of gas in the West Massillon Coal Comyany's No. 2 mine were current on the streets to-day. Reduced to facts the story is that David Morgan, a miner, was only slightly burned on the hands and face by a small explosion of gas in that mine, the injuries being so slight that they did did not require the services of a physician.

Unanimously Re-elected.

At a meeting of the executive board of the League of American Wheelmen, held yesterday afternoon, James R. Dunn of this city, was unanimously re-elected to the presidency.

Ruined by Gas.

Special Dispatch to The Independent.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 17.—Two dwellings in Allegheny City were wrecked by a gas explosion this morning. Five persons were injured, one fatally.

All members of Samuel Beatty Council No. 15 O. U. A. M. are requested to attend the regular meeting Wednesday evening. Business of importance will be transacted. E. H. SEELEY, C.

1886—Died at Frankford, Pa., John B. Gough, temperance lecturer, in his 69th year.

The Republican party stands now, as it has since its inception, in favor of an honest dollar.

The first robin of the year is reported to-day, from the first ward. Spring is coming, and now is the time to advertise.

While the street paving question is up, THE INDEPENDENT rises to say for the ninety ninth time, that is in favor of Massillon brick for Massillon steeets.

There is quiet diguity in Senator Quay's speech delivered in the senate, yesterday. The reply meets the attack. The Democratic press will attempt to discredit the statements, but it is difficult to see wherein they are not quite as authoritative as the original accusations. Controversy is effectually silenced on some points whatever may be thought of the rest.

The talk about Grover Cleveland being out of the race, because of his letter on the silver question is all sham. If Mr. Cleveland's party was a party of principle it might do, but it is not. Its sails are set to catch the variable winds of popular opinion, and Mr. Cleveland's opinions are not therefore, important. He owns the Democratic party, and the party will not dare to refuse him a re-nomination.

THE INDEPENDENT acknowledges the receipt of a courteous invitation to be present at a county meeting, to be held in Canton, for the purpose of discussing the Canton memorial building movement, for which citizens of Canton desire the county to contribute anywhere from $25,000 to $40,000. THE INDEPENDENT must politely decline to urge its readers to attend this alleged county meeting, and is quite sure that very few will be present from places distant from Canton and vicinity. The county does not need such a structure and the whole scheme is a highly improper one for the county to enter into. THE INDEPENDENT believes that no tax-payers outside of Canton will permit themselves thus to be humbugged.

Alfred Dolge, a felt manufacturer, whose name is a familiar brand, met his employes on the last day in January to make annual division of the profits of his concern. On that occasion he said:

"At every reunion since 1883 I have to thank God for that we were untaxed the mercy of our foreign competitors, that he did drive us out of business if he chose to do so. The duty on felt has been raised about 40 per cent., and yet the importer sells his felt at the same price as before, because of our competition. Is this not convincing proof that he could have sold his felt at 40 per cent less before the McKinley bill was passed if he wanted to, and thereby make the manufacture of felt in America impossible? Our foreign competitors cannot wipe us out at their pleasure any more. We feel that we stand on solid ground. We can compete with them now in prices, and our orders are increasing. Hence we can raise wages, to the chagrin of our good friends, the free traders, also, because of this certainty of peaceful existence. I propose to try for one year the experiment of shortening the hours of labor from ten to nine and one half hours per day. I have, for the purpose of encouraging you, raised the wages where it was possible and deserved. This amounts to nearly 12½ per cent on wages paid so far, and I hope that at our next reunion I can state that this raise of wages has been a wise and justified move. There is the benefit you have so far derived from the McKinley bill—higher wages and shorter time. I say to you to-night that if the McKinley bill is to be replaced by a free trade measure you will either have to work twelve hours a day soon after, or I will have to move my machinery to Europe."

Time, the great leveler of all things, is proving the wisdom of the McKinley law.

"Uncle Hiram" Got Here.

Woodhull's "Uncle Hiram" comedy company labored under manifold disadvantages in producing their play at Bucher's Monday night. They were a Uhrichsville Saturday night and missed the early train north Monday morning, which rendered it impossible to give their street parade. They were all ready to come on No. 4, due here at 3:12 p. m., but that train was discontinued south of Uhrichsville on account of the track being washed out. A passenger coach was then accorded them, it was attached to No. 26's freight, and they arrived about half-past seven o'clock. They went to the hall without supper, and notwithstanding the obstacles and the fact that the general impression was that they could not get here, a fair-sized audience greeted the company. The play in itself and the leading character is a weak imitation of Dan Thompson's 'Joshua Whitcomb," although some of the situations were fine and several of the company were excellent in their parts. The orchestra was a specially pleasing feature of the entertainment.

Her Ear Grew Together.

The accident which befel Mrs. Jacob Tish, of Front street, whereby a portion of one ear was entirely severed, was reported in this paper about two months ago. It it may be remembered also that at the time the severed portion was picked up from the ground, where it lay for some time after the runaway, and was attached by plasters to the ear proper. Since then the wound has healed, and the detached part of the lobe has united with the other, there being only a slight disfigurement to indicate what happened. It was a neat piece of surgery, and shows what can be done these days.

In Justice's Court.

Mathias Schandel, who lives on the Shriver farm north of the city, was arraigned in justice's court this morning, charged with the paternity of a child born out of wedlock, last November, to Miss Clara Arntz, living in Richville avenue. He was found guilty and held to court in the sum of $500, bail being furnished.

Wm. Kohl Discharged.

Mayor Reed, this morning, rendered his decision in the case charging William Kohl with having stolen the three overcoats taken from his mother's boarding house last Saturday evening. Young Kohl was discharged, there not being any evidence fastening the crime against him.

Some Police Pickings.

Officers Hagan and Ertle went to Canton this morning to testify in the case of Ohio vs. Michael Harrington, the fellow who was indicted for stealing a horse and buggy belonging to farmer Boerner from in front of Heinrich & Kohl's.

Farm at Public Sale.

The undersigned will sell his farm at public sale, containing 100 acres, located one-half mile south-west of East Greenville, Tuscarawas township, Stark county, O., on Wednesday, Feb. 18th, 1891, at 1 o'clock, p. m. This farm is right in the coal regions. A coal company expects in the near future to sink a coal shaft about 30 rods east of said 100 acres. The prospects for coal on this farm are good. There has been coal found on it, but not drilled up yet to know how much. The farm is not leased. The farm is in good repair, and contains all necessary buildings and all kinds of fruit. Plenty of water and a running fountain which flows about 30 barrels per hour. For further particulars address

IN MEMORY OF SHERMAN.

HART POST ARRANGES A FITTING CEREMONY.

A Memorial Meeting to be Held in the First M. E. Church Thursday Afternoon at 2 o'clock—Resolutions of the Post Adopted Last Night.

The veteran members of Hart Post, G. A. R., held another meeting last night, to determine upon a programme for a Sherman memorial meeting.

It was decided to conduct public exercises in the First M. E. church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, that being the time of the funeral ceremony at New York. The principal address upon this occasion will be delivered by the Rev. A. R Chapman.

The public is invited to attend this meeting, and the Sons of Veterans and Daughters of Veterans are requested to meet at headquarters, at 1:30 sharp, to march to the church with the Post. A resolution was also adopted last night asking business men to close their establishments Thursday afternoon, and thus aid in giving to the occasion a fitting character. The resolutions of respect adopted were as follows:

Whereas, Death, the great commander, has entered our ranks and removed our loved and honored commander, Gen. William T. Sherman, the hero of many a hard fought battle, grief is felt in every heart and is visible on every patriotic brow. He has gone from our sight, but not from our hearts. We shall never look upon his like again as a soldier, a gentleman and a patriot; his life will ever be an inspiration to all who come after him; his memory will go down to future generations as one of the world's greatest and most loved commanders. Though sorely smitten by his death, we proudly recognize in him the ideal American soldier, whose civil career adds luster to his deeds in war, seemingly unconscious of his greatness himself. Every citizen concedes his superlative goodness of heart.

Resolved, That in token of our grief and respect for our departed comrade, and of our sympathy for his stricken family, with whom let us mingle our tears, that this post hold a memorial meeting on the day of his funeral, and that the Sons and Daughters of Veterans and the public be invited to meet with us.

Resolved, That our post room be draped with emblems of mourning for ninety days and that these resolutions be spread upon our records, that a copy be sent to the family, and ordered printed in the city papers.

THE OHIO LEGISLATURE.

The Execution of Carl Bach Revived in the House—Many Bills Introduced and Several Important Ones Passed.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 17.—The execution of Carl Bach in Wood county some years ago was revived in the house yesterday. Dr. Spencer secured the passage of a bill in the house paying an ex-Democratic sheriff of Wood county $300 for the expenses of the execution. A political feud influenced the commissioners from allowing the bill at the time of the hanging, but now the people and commissioners are favorable to paying for Bach's execution. Both branches of the legislature paid tribute to the memory of Gen. W. T. Sherman by fitting resolutions adopted immediately and the senate will attend the funeral.

Bills Introduced.

Requiring that line fences may be kept up where lands are occupied and improved; regulating primary elections in Hamilton county, and prohibiting proxies in conventions; providing for non-partisan board of control in Hamilton county; making disorderly conduct and use of obscene language on railroad trains a misdemeanor; placing insane asylums, girls' and boys' industrial homes under the care of non-partisan boards of trustees; requiring the majority of freeholders benefited to apply for widening or deepening ditches.

Bills Passed.

Abolishing the office of collector of court costs and fees in Cincinnati. Changing the appointing power for selecting trustees of the Xenia and Georgetown railroad.

THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

A Letter Showing the Attention the Veterans Receive.

I. B. Dangler has received the following letter from J. V. Lerch, chaplain of the Dayton Soldiers' Home, which shows the considerate attention that the volunteer soldier receives in that institution:

NATIONAL MILITARY HOME O.,
Feb. 13. 1891

MY DEAR SIR:—By this time you are in possession of the sad news of William's death. I wish to inform you in addition to what was telegraphed, that William died at 9:30 p. m. last night. I administered communion by his request at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. I saw him frequently in his last sickness. The surgeon gave him his personal attention and did all for him that was possible to do, and William kindly recognized this attention and expressed his gratitude in warm terms to be told the surgeon and governor, if this sickness would take him off. He also said, "tell father if he wishes my remains when I am dead he shall have all that remains of me." I then showed him your message and told him that his wish would be complied with, that the governor would consent to having the remains shipped, which news pleased him very much. I also read to him your letter, and this was his answer: "Poor father, of course he could not come to see me in his feeble condition and I would not have him do so. Send him word about my condition." As you know, this was done. It was his request that I should accompany his remains to Massillon and to attend the funeral services, providing the governor would approve. The governor did kindly approve of me complying with the request, and had made all necessary arrangements for me to go, but my health has been such for the last few days that the governor, Mrs. Lerch and myself thought it was best not undertake the trip, as the body could be safely shipped anyway in the way you requested.

Very respectfully,
J. V. LERCH.

ECHOES FROM THE SHOPS.

Note and Comment on Men and Doings at Russell Co.'s.

Mr. Judson C. Farrell is improving.

Mr Fred Lucker was able to sit in a chair Sunday.

Mr. Thomas Murray has returned to work again.

Mr. Ernest Bammerlin still suffers from rheumatism.

Mr. Bernard Portner is improving as fast as can be expected.

Mr. James G. Graves' condition at Canton remains about the same.

Mr. Charles Millard has been suffering from an attack of bronchitis.

Mr. David Umbenhour's condition is about the same as last reported.

Mr. Austin E. Hisey, now of Cleveland, continues to receive medical attention.

Many of the members of the board of directors were visiting the sick on Sunday.

Mr. August Steber has been confined to his home for some time by an injury to his leg.

John F. Pearlbach says it is much easier to slide to Canton than to walk. Of course John knows all about it.

The bashful Thomas Volkmor was around here yesterday blushing like a school girl. He looked as if he would like to have taken off his coat and broken the rules of the shop to find out if any of the boys had any hopes of his coming in a good third in the race he has entered. There was a longing in his eyes that would cause the stoutest heart to heave a sigh of sympathy.

The report of the committee appointed to examine the constitution was adopted by sections at the last meeting just as it came from the hands of the committee, with the exception of an amendment offered by Mr. Jacob Simonsen requiring notice to be given the secretary during the sickness or disability of a member, which was adopted. This is more than is usually accomplished by committees in the United States congress. This will explain the courtly dignity of two members of the committee, Messrs. John Ryder and Howard Garrigues, when they meet and tip their hats to each other in respectful reverence for the profound wisdom thus uncovered.

A tour of the works of Russell & Co would be incomplete without a visit to the nut and bolt department, which is also known as department N, and which is presided over by Mr. Fred Grossweiler as foreman. Instead of the small cramped up quarters of former years, there is set apart a room in the new building just completed, 144 feet long and 22 feet wide, which is divided in the center of the floor by neat partitions, on which are open pockets and bins for all rough bolts and iron of all sizes, out of the latter screws and studs and numberless articles are started and completed cold. On each side of the room are arranged tier above tier between nine and ten hundred open pockets or drawers, where as many different kinds and classes of finished work are kept, such as case-hardened nuts, bolts, and set-screws, and other articles that belong to this department. This does not take into account the loads of small bolts sent directly to the erecting room. Fomerly of about 100,000 of certain kinds of bolts used, about 55,000 were bought, now they are all made right here under Mr. Grossweiler's direction. There are very few of those who are working here who know that in the year about one million and a half pieces are sent out to the various departments from this room, and that the arrangements for supplying and carrying off the oil and water used in cutting all this iron and steel are so complete that nothing is wasted when finished, being perfectly clean when it leaves the machine. There are about five hundred one inch round stacker rods made here every season with a double thread the whole length—about five feet—which means four threads to the inch, that deserve mention, as they are a difficult piece of work. The neat labels on all the long rows of drawers and the Grossweiler neatness of the entire room are pleasing to the eye. About 300,000 cylinder spikes, which beat out the grain that makes the flour you and I eat, are sent out from this department yearly, and although we do not wish to make Fred so proud that he wont recognize us, we are compelled to say many of the improvements in getting out the work of this department are due to his mechanical genius.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, causing distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. After eating I would have a faint or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble was aggravated by my business, painting. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. ADDRESS TO THE SENATE

IN REFUTATION OF CHARGES CIRCULATED AGAINST SENATOR QUAY.

He Endeavors to Answer Every Specific Charge That Could Be Extracted From a Careful Perusal of the Mass of Falsehoods and Confused Statements Gathered Together for His Destruction—He Denies Them in Seriatim and in Toto.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—In the senate Monday the credentials of Senators Jones, of Nevada, and Mitchell, of Oregon, for terms beginning March 4 next were filed. The house joint resolution to correct an error of punctuation in the tariff act of 1890, relating to twine, was passed. The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill. The following committee amendments were agreed to: Making the mission to Mexico a first-class mission, ranking with France, Germany, Great Britain and Russia, with a salary of $17,500; striking out the item of $10,000 for a minister to the Central American states; inserting two items of $10,000 each for a minister to Guatemala and Honduras and for a minister to Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Salvador. The senate then, at 12:30, went into executive session. The doors were reopened at 4:50, and immediately afterward Mr. Quay rose and addressed the senate in refutation of charges circulated against him.

Senator Quay's Address.

Never, probably, since Alexander Hamilton was hunted to his death, has one in public life been pursued so persistently and malignantly. The field of the malign effort has been the entire union. The assaults were of a character so monstrous as largely to carry with them their own refutation. Were it otherwise, I could not remain, nor would my constituents permit to remain, a member of this senate. Partly through indifference to slander, a weapon which has never had a place in my political arsenal, and partly by the advice of friends, who urged me to treat the assassins of reputation as undeserving of open controversy, I have permitted, without comment, the passing of the flood of falsehood. Its malodoaous waters chance at this time to be quiescent, and now, when no heated political conflict is raging, when neither hope nor fear can be deemed the inspiration of my utterance, I choose briefly to contront accusation with truth. It is not my purpose to weary the senate by a rehearsal of each detail of the mass of misrepresentation. Nevertheless, avoiding prolixity, I will endeavor to make this statement specific and

So Complete as to Be Final.

If any thread in the fabric of falsehood remains unsevered it will be because this tissue of lies is so complex it is so raveled with contradictions and clouded with insinuation, that some insignificant portion has escaped my attention. The first assertion concerning my official acts is that at some time, or continuously between the years of 1879 and 1882, I alone, or acting with another or others, used the moneys of the state of Pennsylvania for speculative or private purposes. I denounce this statement as absolutely false. In 1877 the Democratic party of Pennsylvania elected a state treasurer and an auditor general, the financial officers of the commonwealth. A year or two later, pending their terms of office, I became engaged in stock operations. In some transactions I was associated and jointly interested with the gentleman who was at that time the cashier of the state treasury. These transactions proved seriously disastrous, and I was compelled to pay a portion of his losses as well as my own. In doing this, it became necessary to suppiy an alleged deficiency he had caused in the treasury. As a portion of the fund for this purpose, I borrowed $100,000 from the gentleman who is at present my colleague in the senate. I gave him my judgment note therefor, the amount of which note I paid him

Dollar for Dollar Years Ago.

It is charged that again I used moneys belonging to the commonwealth of Pennsylvania to purchase bonds or stock, or both, of a Chicago street railway. I was invited by friends in Philadelphia to join in the purchase of street railway property in Chicago, and did so, borrowing the money upon my own collateral from the People's bank, in Philadelphia. The charge that securities belonging to the state of Pennsylvania were used in the transaction is false and impossible of truth. Collateral to this last accusation is a charge that I defrauded, or attempted to defraud, the widow of a deceased friend. This also is absolutely false. There breaths not upon the earth, man or woman, who can truthfully say that I ever defrauded or attempted to defraud him or her of a dollar. Upon this point charity to the dead and to the living forbids my making any personal explanation. Samuel Gustine Thompson, a member of the Philadelphia bar and president of the Young Men's Democratic association, of that city, is one of several thoroughly conversant with the facts, who can give them to the public, if they see proper. I come now to what might be called

The Fourth Ground of Criticism

of my public conduct. This was my action as a member of the board of pardons of Pennsylvania in voting for the pardon of certain members of the Pennsylvania legislature and others upon whom sentence had been passed for bribery. My conduct in that matter has been bitterly assailed, and it is proper to say that the facts were patent to the people of the state and were thoroughly discussed before my election to the office of state treasurer, and subsequently to a seat in this chamber. I had no personal interest in the legislation involved. My vote as a member of the board of pardons was in accordance with the law and with the action of my colleagues, and was compelled by the fact that the sentence imposed by the court upon the persons pardoned was illegal. Upon this point the attorney general of the state filed his written opinion with our decision. I am frank to say that I have no regrets for that vote, and would repeat it under the same circumstances. It is necessary to pass to history somewhat ancient in order to dispose of the nebulous charge of bribery and corruption as a member of the Pennsylvania legislature nearly twenty-five years ago against the then editor of the Pittsburg Commercial. With characteristic malignity my assailants have been careful to emphasize the fact that that case was never pushed for trial. They fail to state that

The Libel Was Retracted,

and that the defendants pleaded nolle contendere, paying the costs of the case and the fees of the counsel. It is proper also to dispose of some statements on which stress has been laid. One accusation is that over twenty years ago I attempted to bribe Alexander P. Tutton, then supervisor of internal revenue for the eastern district of Pennsylvania, to prevent the seizure of an illicit distillery. This is a wicked and malicious falsehood, without excuse for its utterance or evidence for its support. A statement had been made that when the present high license statue of Pennsylvania was pending in the legislature of that state liquor dealers of Philadelphia and Pittsburg raised a sum specified as $80,000 and gave it to me and to a federal officer in Philadelphia who is not named, for the purpose of securing an amendment to that legislation in their interest. This also I denounce as an absolute falsehood. Mr. William F. Friday, who is stated to have paid the money, is a reputable merchant now living in the city of Pittsburg. Finally I reach a charge that in some mysterious way I brought about the defeat of the proposed

Amendment of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in that state, which was submitted to a vote of the people in 1889. Others, I understand, have already exploded the silly falsehood of the publication from which the charge arose, and I specifically denied it at the time it appeared. By my vote alone did I affect the verdict of the people upon the prohibitory amendment. I have endeavored to make the utterance complete even at the cost of time of the senate and weariness of the senators. I have endeavored to answer every specific charge of misfeance or malfeasance that could be extracted from a careful perusal of the mass of direct falsehood, confused statements, innuendo, insinuation and cunning implication, that with an industry worthy of a better cause has been gathered together for my destruction. I deny them seriatim, and in toto, they are false and foul to core.

At the Close of Mr. Quay's Remarks

the senate resumed consideration of the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill, to which the following amendment had been agreed to in executive session: To enable the president to make engagement with any such citizen or coporation of the United States as shall appear to possess the means and facilities necessary to that end for telegraphic communication between the United States and the kingdom of Hawaii, which engagement shall contain provisions sufficient in the judgment of the president to secure to the government and citizens of the United States early and equal communication by telegraph with said kingdom on reasonable terms for a period not less than fourteen years. A sum not exceeding $250,000 is appropriated for each year during which such engagement shall be so in course of execution, not exceeding twenty years. And the sum total paid under this authority shall not exceed $3,000,000. The bill and amendments having been reported from the committee of the whole to the senate, the committee amendments were agreed to in bulk, except that in regard to the Hawaiian telegraph cable, on which a separate vote was taken and was agreed to—yeas, 35; nays, 22. The vice president announced his appointment of the following senators to attend Gen. Sherman's funeral, the number having been increased from five to six: Messrs. Evarts, Hawley, Manderson, Pierce, Cockrell and Walthall. The senate at 6 p. m. adjourned.

Proceedings in the House.

In the house, Mr. E. B. Taylor, rising to a personal explanation, said that on Saturday last, in the heat of debate, he had used language toward the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Fithian) which he was immediately sorry for. He had said that the gentleman had a right to make a fool of himself, but not with his (Taylor's) consent. The words were unreasonable, unparliamentary and unjust, and he apologized to the house, and to the gentleman, and regretted exceedingly that he was, under the excitement of the moment, induced to make use of them. Mr. Fithian said that after hearing the manly statement of Mr. Taylor, he accepted the apology in the same spirit in which it had been made. The conference report on the army appropriation bill was adopted. The house then went into committee of the whole on the Indian appropriation bill. Without disposing of the bill the committee rose. Resolutions of sorrow at the death of Gen. Sherman were adopted by the house, and, in accordance therewith, the speaker appointed the following committee: Messrs. Cutcheon, Spinola, Cogswell, Cummings, Grosvenor, Kinsey, Tarsney, Henderson, of Illinois, and Outhwaite. The house then adjourned.

A WIDESPREAD FLOOD.

TOWNS THROUGHOUT PENNSYLVANIA SUFFER MORE OR LESS.

A Flood Unequaled by Any Since 1884 Looked For—Rain Has Fallen for 36 Hours From the Mountain Sources to Points on the Ohio—Railroads and Residences Everywhere Under Water—Large Portion of Johnstown Under Water.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 17.—A flood in both rivers, unequaled by any rise of the waters since that of February, 1884, is looked for by rivermen of experience in Pittsburg. The most conservative estimates place the limit at twenty-five feet, while many careful men say that the thirty-foot mark will be reached. The fall of rain for over thirty-six hours along both the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, from their mountain sources ro points miles below where they join the Ohio, has been heavy and regular. At an early hour this morning it is still raining, and the latest reports from all stations were ominous. At many places great damage has been done already, as will be seen by the telegraphic reports which are appended. Everywhere up the valleys extra precautions are being taken, but the losses to come will necessarily be great.

Johnstown Under Water.

JOHNSTOWN, Feb. 17.—The residents of this city are once more forced to send up a cry of distress to the outside world. The rivers are two feet higher than at any time since the flood of 1889. A large portion of the city is under water, and there are no indications of a cessation of the flood. It is raining and the river is rising at an alarming rate. At this writing the marks indicate a 19-foot stage, 12 feet above the danger mark. A reign of terror prevails and the people are preparing to flee to places of safety. A telegram just received from Shade creek says the large log boom of the Johnstown Lumber company, at that point, is liable to break away at any moment. If this occurs the loss of life and damage to property cannot be estimated. Six bridges have been washed away.

Ready to Vacate Their Houses.

WEST NEWTON, PA., Feb. 17.—At midnight the Youghiogheny river is very high and rising rapidly, although rain has ceased falling. At Sewickley, Scott Haven and Buena Vista and the lower parts of this town the people are in their houses, but are ready to vacate at any time, if necessary. No considerable damage is anticipated unless more rain should fall. Both the Baltimore and Ohio and the Pittsburg, McKeesport and Youghiogheny railroads are in bad shape.

Catfish Creek Out of Its Banks.

WASHINGTON, PA., Feb. 17.—Catfish creek, which runs through this town, has overflowed its banks and submerged the lower part of town; several large foundries and machine shops have been compelled to shut down on account of high water. The county bridge at Meadowlands has been swept away. A washout on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Elm Grove occured doing great damage.

Creeks Swollen to Big Streams.

BRADFORD, PA., Feb. 17.—The heavy rain which set in Sunday night at 10 o'clock and still continues, has swollen the east and west branches of the Tuna creek into big streams. Last night the creek overflowed its banks and inundated some streets in the lower part of the city. Should the rain continue the dwelling houses on these streets will be flooded.

Water May Do Serious Damage.

MEADVILLE, PA., Feb. 17.—If this rain does not abate the water may do serious damage here to-day. Neeson's run has overflowed. Many of the cellars in the lower wards of the city are filled with water and some of the streets are like running streams. Mill run is also getting dangerously high and has already necessitated the clearing of adjacent cellars.

Two Railroads Abandoned.

MANSFIELD, PA., Feb. 17.—The lower portion of this city and almost all of North Mansfield are under water. All trains on the Chartiers branch of the Panhandle have been abandoned. The tracks of the Pittsburg, Chartiers and Youghiogheny road along Chartiers creek in many places have been entirely washed away.

CONDENSED OHIO NEWS.

Henry Clemens, Jr., a Youngstown grocer who has been engaged in business for several years, assigned Monday to James P. Wilson.

The Hampden watch works increased their present force by 200 Monday. This makes about two-thirds of the force before the assignment. The others will be put in soon.

THE MOYER MINE BURNING

THE CONNELLSVILLE COKE REGION AGAIN TO THE FRONT.

A Miner Allowed a Naked Lamp to Fall to the Bottom of the Shaft, Causing an Explosion, Followed by the Mine Taking Fire—Certain That Four Men Have Been Killed Outright or Are Imprisoned, With Little Hope of Ever Coming Out Alive.

SCOTTDALE, PA., Feb. 17.—Another mine explosion has taken place; and, following so closely upon the Mammoth horror, there is great excitement as the news spreads throughout the coke regions. This time the explosion occurred at the Moyer works, owned by W. J. Rainey, and located on the Southwest branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. It occurred shortly after the men entered yesterday morning. The fan used to ventilate the mine has been burned and the timber and coal in the slope is burning. There are 509 ovens in the plant and about 550 men were employed. The works were running in defiance of the labor organizations, Rainey having refused to sign any agreement.

The Miner's Naked Lamp

which caused the explosion was accidentally dropped to the bottom of the shaft. An immense volume of smoke is pouring from the shaft, which is regarded as a sign of a great fire. It is certain that either four men have been killed outright or are imprisoned. The flames spread with alarming rapidity, and if the men, a couple of whom are pumpers, are not dead by this time, they will be burned alive. The shaft and slope, as the fire has now extended into the latter, is exceedingly difficult to penetrate, owing to which the men meet and the fierceness of the flames. The company has a large gang of men at work and has turned a stream into the burning shaft. It is now feared that if the miners have not reached some place of safety ere this, they will be drowned. The mothers and wives of the entombed workmen are at the shaft and the scenes are heartrending.

The Enormous Volume of Smoke

ANOTHER FIREMAN KILLED.

Principal Business Structures of a City Burned Before Checking the Blaze.

SEATTLE, WASH., Feb. 17. — News comes from New Westminster, B. C., that that city suffered a loss of nearly $500,000 by fire. It also caused the death of John M. Cannon, a volunteer fireman, who was buried under a falling wall. Another man is said to be buried in the ruins. The fire started on Columbus street. The whole block of buildings was ablaze before the firemen got to work. When the flames were nearly under control an explosion occurred, bursting all the hose pumping on the fire and breaking every pane of glass within a radius of half a mile. The Masonic temple adjoining, which had up to this time been considered safe, now caught fire. It was a four story brick building and was destroyed. The fire was not gotten under control until the principal business structures of the city were burned.

PHILADELPHIA REJOICES.

The Mayor Signs an Ordinance Giving Her Elevated Roads.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—Mayor Fitler signed the Market street elevated railroad ordinance, thus making it a law. The bill provides for a double track elevated road on Market street, from the Delaware river to the county line, passing around the north side of the public buildings. Bids are to be advertised for, and the contract for constructing and operating the road will be awarded to the highest bidder. This will be done at once. Mayor Fitler would not speak about the matter, but there is general rejoicing throughout the city. It is expected that other systems of "L" roads will soon be projected, on Ridge avenue and Front street particularly.

LATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Eight hundred and seventy-seven immigrants were landed at the barge office, New York, Monday. Of this number 492 came from Italy.

A party of negroes on their way to church near Petersburg, Ga., Sunday, fought over a cake walk of the night before. Every man had a pistol. Will Ismax was shot dead, a dozen bullets entering his body. Several others were badly wounded.

The Egyptian troops are concentrated at Trinkitat, small patrols of the enemy having been seen hanging around El Teb, though it is known that the main body of the Osman Digna's troops remains at Tokar. The Egyptian troops will advance Tuesday and occupy and entrench El Teb.

A Bulgarian newspaper says that the body of Padlewski, who was charged with the murder of Gen. Seliverskoff, in Paris, has been found, half devoured by wolves, between Phillipopolis and Kazanlik. The body, the paper says, was identified by documents found in the pockets.

In the assembly at Rio Janeiro the constitution has passed its second reading. The election for president of the republic will be held immediately. The leading candidates for the presidency are Gen. Dafonseca, chief of the provisional government, and Senhor Moraes, governor of the province of San Paulo.

Prince Barteniff, who murdered a girl of whom he was jealous, has been dismissed from the army and sent to Siberia. The prince was given opportunities to commit suicide, after the custom on the continent when an officer falls into disgrance, but he could not summon courage enough to kill himself.

CLERK ADROITLY ROBBED.

Genteel Thieves Make the Biggest Haul of the Kind in This Generation.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—A clerk named McKenzie, a youth about 17 years of age, was adroitly robbed yesterday of a a satchel containing £11,590 in Bank of England notes of denominations ranging from £1,000 downward. The thieves were of genteel appearance, in fact, rather dudish, and the police believe that they are expert American criminals, who have been watching young McKenzie probably for weeks, knowing that he was entrusted with large amounts of money, and awaiting their chance to rob him. They got clean away with the biggest haul of the kind in this generation. The notes can be easily disposed of.

MASKED BURGLARS

Gag and Bind Six People, Nearly Kill One and Ransack the House.

FINLEYVILLE, PA., Feb. 17. — Chris Fritchman, a prominent farmer; his sister, aged 22; Mrs. Beach Fritchman and her four children and a hired man, aged 70, were bound and gagged by six masked burglars, who blew open a safe, secured $40 and carried off silver and other valuables. The burglars ransacked the house from top to bottom. In a fight with the burglars the elder Fritchman was badly injured.

A SPLENDID PROGRAMME

SUITABLE FOR PUBLIC EXERCISES ON WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

How the Light of Realism May Be Thrown on Various Incidents in the Career of the Father of His Country. Choice Selections.

[Copyright by American Press Association.]

The celebration of Washington's Birthday, even more than Fourth of July, arouses patriotism, because it is a more solemn and dignified memorial day. It is quite as fitting an occasion for public exercises as "the glorious Fourth," and should inspire old as well as young orators, busy men as well as happy children. These exercises have been prepared not merely for school but for public presentation, and are of such a nature that adults as well as children can take part.

ATTACKED BY INDIANS.

There should be frequent singing—either solos, quartets or choruses. There should also be an oration—if not original, then something learned, and recited from one of the great speeches made on patriotic occasions, commemorating events in Washington's career or sketching his character. The tableaux may be given with other exercises or by themselves. They need not all be used, and may be interspersed with stirring music, vocal or instrumental. If the services of a professional band cannot be secured an amateur one would do as well. This holiday is in some places a favorite time for entertainments of various sorts in aid of charities. Possibly the programme here given may be used in some such way.

A stage or platform with curtains which can be drawn back will be needed for the tableaux. They may be called "Scenes from the Life of Washington." The first represents the young hero on his way back from the French commander, St. Pierre, to Williamsburg, whence he had traveled 400 miles to deliver an important message during the French and Indian war. He was attacked by Indians, one of whom fired at but missed him. The tableau contains the figure of Washington kneeling before his camp fire. This may be made of wood piled up, lighted candles being placed between the sticks so as to resemble a blaze. Near him may be placed a gun and a large gray blanket, besides any other soldiers' equipments easily obtained. If possible get a large evergreen tree and place it near the back of the stage, so that the Indian can stand partly concealed by it, raising his gun as if to fire. The Indian costume can be hired or constructed from any picture. Washington may wear a large cloak or coat and the hat of a soldier of that time. The following is to be recited with this tableau by some one who stands near the stage:

Oh, Washington, dearest and best of thy race.
Thy name through the night cloud of ages shall lighten!
Thy name on his banner the soldier shall trace,
To hallow his death, or his triumphs to brighten!
In mirth and in might,
Fellow soldiers unite,
Hand to hand at the feast, hand to hand in the fight!
In freedom and peace swell the chorus sublime—
"Sleep, spoiler of nations, the slumber of Time!"

—Charles Sprague.

The second tableau represents Washington taking command of the American army. As a matter of fact, this event took place in Cambridge under a huge tree, called thereafter the "Washington Elm." To represent this would be impossible, but the stage may be made to look as much like out of doors as it can. The central figures are Washington and a soldier, who is giving him his sword. If it can be arranged, let a single line of soldiers be visible. The recitation is from "Under the Old Elm."

SURRENDER OF CORNWALLIS.

Soldier and statesman, rarest unison,
High poised example of great duties done
Simply as breathing, a world's honors worn
As life's indifferent gifts to all men born;
Dumb for himself, unless it were to God,
But for his barefoot soldiers eloquent,
Tramping the snow to coral where they trod,
Held by his awe in hollow eyed content;
Modest, yet firm as Nature's self; unblamed
Save by the men his nobler temper shamed;
Never seduced through show of present good
By other than unsetting lights to steer
New trimmed in Heaven, nor than his steadfast mood
More steadfast, far from rashness as from fear;
Rigid, but with himself first, grasping still
In swerveless poise the wave beat helm of will;
Not honored then or now because he wooed
The popular voice, but that he still withstood;
Broad minded, higher souled, there is but one
Who was all this and ours, and all men's—Washington.

* * * * * * *

—James Russell Lowell.

The next tableau represents the surrender of Cornwallis to Washington. The two generals stand in the center of the stage, the former handing his sword to the latter, who stretches out his hand to take it. If there were soldiers in the second tableau let the same stand grouped about in this one. The following may be recited:

He fought, but not with love of strife; he struck but to defend,
And ere he turned a people's foe he sought to be their friend;
He strove to keep his country's right by reason's gentle word,
And sighed when fell injustice threw the challenge—sword to sword.

He stood the firm, the calm, the wise, the patriot and sage;
He showed no deep avenging hate, no burst of despot rage;
He stood for liberty and truth, and dauntlessly led on Till shouts of victory gave forth the name of Washington.

—Eliza Cook.

The fourth tableau shows Washington taking the oath as president of the United States. It will be impossible to represent this scene as it occurred, but the central figures can be made effective if surroundings are not exact, and it may be accompanied by martial or national airs if there be an orchestra. The recitation of "Uncrowned Kings" will be suitable here.

O ye uncrowned but kingly kings,
Made royal by the brain and heart;
Of all earth's wealth the noblest part,
Yet reckoned nothing in the mart
Where men know naught but sordid things—
All hail to you, most kingly kings!

O ye uncrowned but kingly kings,
Whose breath and words of living flame
Have waked slaved nations from their shame
And bid them rise in manhood's name,
Swift as the curved bow backward springs,
To follow you, most kingly kings!

O ye uncrowned but kingly kings,
Whose strong right arm hath oft been bared
Where fires of righteous battle glared,
And where all odds of wrong ye dared—
To think on you the heart upsprings,
O ye uncrowned but kingly kings!

O ye uncrowned but kingly kings!
The heart leaps wildly at the thought,
And the brain fires as if it caught
Shreds of your mantle; ye have fought
Not vainly, if your glory brings
A lingering light to earth, O kings.

—Berkeley Aiken.

Following this recitation may be another, from the ode by Whittier read at the centennial celebration of Washington's inauguration, New York April 30, 1889. The whole may be found in almost any large newspaper dated April 30 or May 1, 1889. The exercises may be concluded by a description of the Washington monument, accompanied by these words from the oration delivered by Hon. Robert C. Winthrop at the laying of its corner stone July 4, 1848:

TAKING THE OATH.

The republic may perish; the wide arch of our varied Union may fall; star by star its glories may expire; stone by stone its columns and its Capitol may molder and crumble; all other names which adorn its annals may be forgotten; but as long as human hearts shall anywhere pant or human tongues shall anywhere plead for a true, rational, constitutional liberty, those hearts shall enshrine the memory and those tongues prolong the fame of George Washington.

Is Thought Transmission a Reality?

It is a curious and yet unsolved problem as to how intelligence is forwarded among nations regarded by the Caucasian as inferior. During the late agency troubles the Sioux were constantly informed of the movements of the troops, and even of the attitude of the leading papers. Where they got their news is not known. The same mysterious state of affairs obtained in India at the time of the great insurrection. The natives beat even the telegraph, but how they did so is unexplainable. The nearest explanation ever secured was from a Hindoo, who said that his people were acquainted with the methods of thought transmission. This occult gift enabled two persons to communicate at a distance of hundreds of miles simply by some sort of mental effort.

The Delegate from Alaska.

Capt. James Carroll, who visits Washington as the representative of the people of Alaska, is well known on the Pacific coast as a navigator of twenty-five years experience. He was born in Illinois, and began his seafaring life on the great lakes. He was chosen by a convention representing 8,000 citizens to lay before the president and congress the needs and claims of Alaska, and to ask admission for himself to the house of representatives as territorial delegate.

CAPT. CARROLL.

MARRIED THIS AFTERNOON.

For the third time in its history the matrimonial fortunes of the house of Astor are linked with a Philadelphia family. William Waldorf Astor married Miss Mary Paul, and Miss Carrie Astor became the wife of W. C. Drayton. Now Miss Ava Willing, a belle of the Quaker City, weds with John Jacob, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Astor. The bridegroom is 24 years old, and the presumptive heir to a fortune of $70,000,000. The bride is somewhat younger, and has spent most of her life abroad. Her family has been prominent in Philadelphia society for several generations, and is quite wealthy.

A RING RUNS THE SCHOOLS.

Why Is the School Law Disobeyed in East Liverpool?

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Feb. 17.—Considerable feeling is being stirred up over the non action of the board of education, which body, it seems, has not yet taken any steps toward having the change made in the manner of selecting the members as required by law. For some reason the board has no inclination to order the change. The law referred to provides that in cities the size of East Liverpool the board of education shall be selected by wards and not in the manner it is done at present when one ward has all the members. The control of that board in this city has never passed beyond the grip of a certain clique, and a selection from the different wards would destroy that grip. There is trouble in store for some one.

HIS ROVING ENDED.

A Former Frontiersman Takes Poison and Lays Down to Await Death.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 17.—William R. Hines, employed in the power house of the Consolidated Street Railway company, took poison in his room, and, pulling off his boots, lay down on a cot to await death. He was discovered by the watchman, and a physician was called, but he refused to take an antidote, and died in great pain. He was about 50 years old. Some years since he was a frontiersman, and drove the mails through the Black Hills. He afterward located in Minneapolis, where he bought a livery stable. This was fired by an incendiary, and his wife perished in the flames. He has been since that time roving about the country practicing as a veterinary surgeon. He came to Toledo last fall from Bowling Green, O.

CONVENTION OF REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

An Effort to Make the Event the Most Successful Ever Held.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 17.—Arrangements are being perfected to make the national convention of Republican clubs, to be held in this city on April 21 and 22 next, a grand success. President Hermann, of the local committee, is in receipt of letters almost daily from the presidents of clubs from all over the country, setting forth that they will attend the convention and assist in making the event the most successful of the kind ever held in this country. It is estimated that fully 30,000 visitors will attend from outside cities. The following speakers have been invited to address the mass meeting at Music hall on the night of April 21: James G. Blaine, Depew, Alger, Reed, McKinley, Foraker, Spooner, Langston and Allison.

MINERS' CONVENTION.

The Scale Question to be Settled at the Meeting of Miners and Operators.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 17.—The United Mine Workers of America last night reelected John R. Rae, of Pennsylvania, president; elected P. H. Penna, of Indiana, vice president; Patrick McBryde, of Pennsylvania, secretary-treasurer, and W. B. Wilson, of Pennsylvania, senior member of the executive board. The wage scale question was virtually left for settlement by the joint meeting of miners and operators to be held at Pittsburg in April. The next annual meeting will be held in this city on the second Tuesday of February, 1892.

Broke Their Engagement.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 17.—The Elks recently made a contract for "The Inspector" to be presented at the opera house here next Thursday night and every seat has been sold. Learning that the company would pass through here Sunday from Cincinnati to Boston and would not fill an engagement here attachment papers were issued, but the company avoided service by sending their scenery via Cleveland. The Elks will sue Brady, the proprietor, for damages and attach the first company of his playing in the state.

The Toledo and Ohio Extension.

MARIETTA, O., Feb. 17.—The new extension of the Toledo and Ohio Central extension railroad is completed, and two trains daily will run through between Marietta and Columbus. Connection is also made with all trains on the Toledo and Ohio Central.

Notice to Water Consumers.

TILLMAN'S TURN TO SMILE.

The Columbia Club Charged with Selling Liquor Without a License.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 17.—The Columbia club, which recently attempted to humiliate Governor Tillman by refusing to invite him to the state ball, and blackballing the application of his nephew for membership, is now in trouble. Recently the Rev. G. M. Tolson attacked the club on account of alleged gambling and whisky selling in its room. The agitation resulted in an ordinance requiring clubs where liquor is disposed of to take out a regular liquor license. Papers have been served on the club's officers to appear before the mayor to answer the charge of selling liquor without a license.

MURDERED HIS WIFE,

And the 12-Year-Old Son Told the Officers Where the Body Could Be Found.

BROWNWOOD, GA., Feb. 17.—The 12-year-old son of George Mason told friends who called at his home that his father had killed his mother by beating out her brains, and then described a spot by the Kinchafonee creek where his father had buried the body. The boy led the officers to the spot, and there, after digging, they found the body of the murdered woman, mutilated as had been described. The boy says the crime was committed a week ago. The disappearance of the couple was a mystery until the boy told the story.

Guaranteed Cure for La Grippe.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell you Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with la grippe and will use this remedy according to directions, giving it a fair trial and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. We make this offer, because of the wonderful success of Dr. King's New Discovery during last season's epidemic. Have heard of no case in which it failed. Try it. Trial bottle free at Z. T. Baltzly's drug store. Large size 50c and $1. 4

A Good Record.—"I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for ten years," says druggist E. B. Legg, of Vail, Ia., "and have always warranted it and never had a bottle returned. During the past 90 days I have sold twelve dozen and it has given perfect satisfaction in every instance." It does not dry up a cough, but loosens and relieves it. It will cure a severe cold in less time than other treatment. 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Morganthaler & Heister.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look, if your stomach be disordered you have a dyspeptic look, and if your kidneys be affected you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and Tonic acts directly on these vital organs. Cures pimples, boils, blotches and gives a good complexion. Sold at Z. T. Baltzly's drug store, 50c per bottle. 4

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it, and the replies will be positive in its favor. One has been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia, another finds it indispensible for sick headache, others report remarkable cures of scroffula, salt rheum, etc. Truly, the best advertising which Hood's Sarsaparilla receives is the hearty endorsement of its army of friends.

A Blessing to Humanity.

This is what N. H. Andrews, a prominent citizen of Springfield, O., says: "It affords me great pleasure to assure my friends that I have received both immediate and permanent relief of throat, bronchial and asthmatic trouble in the use of Dr. Acker's English Remedy. It is certainly a good honest medicine and a blessing to humanity." The above preparation we sell on a positive guarantee; it has given better satisfaction than any other remedy we have ever sold. J. M. Schuckers, and E. S. Craig druggist, Massillon, O.

The senior proprietor of this paper has been subject to frequent colds for some years, which were sure to lay him up if not doctored at once. He finds that Chambelain's Cough remedy is reliable. It opens the secretions, relieves the lungs and restores the system to a healthy condition. If freely used as soon as the cold is contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it greatly lessens the attack and often cures in a single day what would otherwise have been a severe cold.—Northwestern Hotel Reporter, Des Moines, Ia. 50 cent bottles for sale by Morganthaler & Heister.

WHY DO YOU COUGH?

Do you know that a little cough is a dangerous thing? Are you aware that it often fastens on the lungs and far too often runs into Consumption and ends in Death? People suffering from Asthma, Bronchitis, Pneumonia and Consumption will all tell you that

"IT STARTED WITH A COLD."

Can you afford to neglect it? Can you trifle with so serious a matter? Are you aware that for Coughs, Colds and Consumption is beyond question the greatest of all Modern Remedies? It will stop a Cough in one night. It will check a Cold in a day. It will prevent Croup, relieve Asthma and cure Consumption if taken in time, "You can't afford to be without it." A 25 cent bottle may save you $100 in Doctor's bills—may save your life! Ask your druggist for it, or write to W. H. HOOKER & Co., 46 West Broadway, New York, for book.

DR. ACKER'S ENGLISH REMEDY
